WALLACEVILLE.

This dry weather is certainly discouraging to farmers. In spite of it, though, some folks have had "yarden truck" for use. Mr. F. H. McEachern has had new potatoes for some time, and peas, onions, beets and greens are old items on our bill of fare. Chickens are coming on nicely too.

We are glad to report that Mrs. F. H. McEachern is back at home after two weeks in the hospital, very much improved.

Mrs. F. E. McEachern and Mrs. Cody of Whitmire paid a short visit to our community last week.

Mr. D. L. Glenn, Sr., spent his 84th birthday with his sister, Mrs. McGee, in Honea Path.

Quite a jolly crowd from Parr Shoals and some folks from the neighborhood enjoyed a picnic on the lake at Wallaceville last Friday.

Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Glenn have both been quite sick, but are up and able to be about again.

Mr. James Perry was a visitor in our midst several days since. He seems to like it mightily. We hope he can be persuaded to become a permanent resident.

There will be an election next Tuesday to vote bonds for good roads our township. I am sure we are all for it.

IN MEMORIAM.

James Robinson Stirling, a Confederate veteran, died at the home of his niece, Mrs. W. M. Harvey, near Woodward, April 27th.

Mr. Stirling was a son of John W. Stirling and Elizabeth Ferguson and was born May 7, 1842. He was born on the same plantation where he died and where he spent the greater part of his life.

When war was declared on the South and that struggle began he was an eighteen year old boy. He volunteered and served through the war in Co. B, 4th S. C.

Mr. Stirling had decided to make the practice of medicine his life work, but on account of the war and the strenuous times following he had to give up this plan.

He devoted himself to school teaching and made for himself quite a reputation as a teacher. He was a teacher who never made application for a school, but was never without a school when he cared to teach.

His was a retiring disposition and few knew him intimately. He was a student by nature and by habit. He was an inveterate reader, and the death summons found him with a book in his hand, striving to add to his great store of knowledge.

Mr. Stirling was never married and made his home with his niece, Mrs. W. M. Harvey.

He had been for many years a consistent member of Concord Presbyterian church and was laid to rest in the Concord cemetery, his grave banked with beautiful floral tributes and floating over all the banner of the Starry Cross under which he marched for four years. He has an-

SUDAN GRASS.

This pasture and forage grass was first introduced in the United States seven or eight years ago when it was brought from the Sudan in Egypt. Trials at various Experimental stations had such successful and satisfactory results that its fame soon spread far and wide and it has now become one of our permanent forage crops. Sown broadcast, when the soil has warmed up in the spring at the rate of 18 to 20 lbs. per acre, it yields an abundant crop and during the season furnishes two or three heavy cuttings, according to weather conditions. It is a tall-growing, annual grass, possessing wonderful food value, and is keenly relished by stock of all kinds.
